All your communication needs in one place.

The way teams communicate, collaborate, and work has evolved.

Mobility is no longer optional for employees, it's essential. In fact, 97.6% of employees want to work remotely.*

Switching your current phones to a cloud-based communication system improves workflow, decreases downtime, and increases your employee's productivity and mobility. Turn your employees desk phones, PCs, tablets, and mobiles into mobile offices - all you need is an internet connection.

RingCentral's cloud system bundles your phone, messaging, and video into one easy-to-navigate app, plus it easily integrates with programs you already use, such as Microsoft Teams and 365.

What makes a cloud phone system different?

Easy to use

Activate in minutes to access intuitive, web-based interfaces and access to 24/7, high-quality support.

No more missed calls

Poor line quality, call diversion not working, and customers being on hold for too long all result in downtime, frustration and potentially, lost revenue. Cloud-communication systems also allow you to stay connected during disasters and outages.

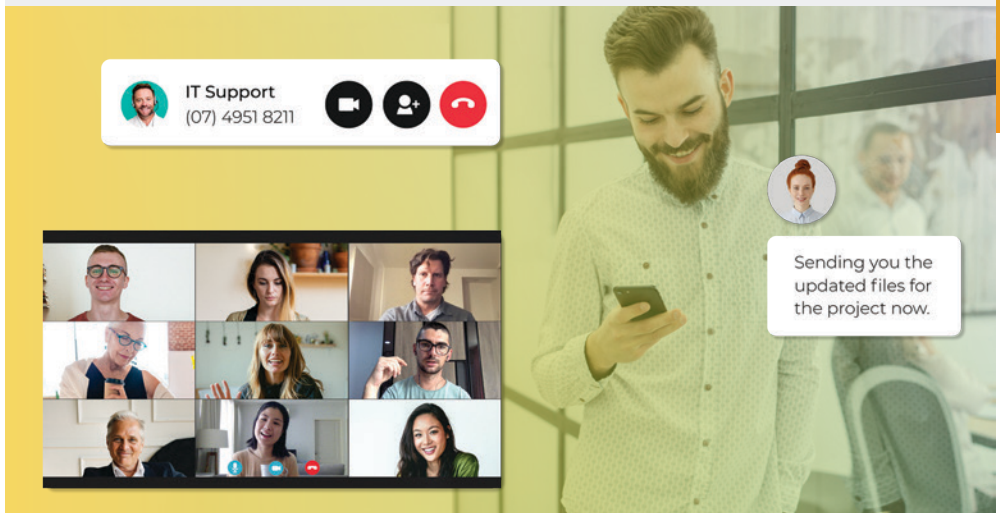

Reduce costs

Increase staff productivity and decrease your IT expenditure with reduced maintenance and infrastructure costs.

7 reasons to switch to a cloud phone system

1. One reliable solution – phone, interactive voice response (IVR), call queues, team messaging, video meetings, faxing, and voicemail, all-in-one.
2. Managed from one location – work with one single app, using a PC or mobile.
3. Flexible and scalable – add or remove users and services instantly.
4. Private, protected, secure – enterprise-grade security encrypts all your meetings and conversations.
5. No infrastructure management costs – all aspects of infrastructure are managed and monitored by your provider, 24/7.
6. Say hello on the go – employees can seamlessly make calls, send messages, and video conference at any time from their PC, mobile, or tablet.
7. Latest features, always-free – automatic updates that provide zero interruptions to your business.
